MASTER RESTAURATEUR GORDON RAMSAY
LAUNCHES A BOLD OLIVE OIL COLLECTION

Alpine Mountain High

An exquisite lounge represents peak Swiss style

Capone, chocolate "corrupted" with coffee and vanilla liqueur. A margarita collection celebrates a refined blend of tequila, lime and orange liqueur. Some sophisticated variations include the intriguing purple margarita, which adds butterfly-pea syrup and Himalayan pink salt. But two of the most outstanding concoctions are the BBQ margarita, with mezcal fat-washed bacon and spicy syrup, smoked with Provençal herbs, and the spicy mango.

Mixology-level drinks inspired by the surroundings include the Purple Basil Smash, prepared with gin, purple basil leaves, lime juice and simple syrup. Sex on the Mountain mixes vodka, green Chartreuse, lime juice and herbal syrup. The Gstaad Mule is prepared with a local gin, lime juice and Ramseier, a delightful apple cider. And don't miss the Lemon Pie, a limoncello-inspired cocktail with lemon juice, caramel syrup, caramel tuile, meringue and egg white.

THE BAR AT

Le Grand Bellevue hotel in picturesque Gstaad sets a warm and welcoming tone as guests enjoy delicious drinks and award-winning bites. The zinc-topped bar and 57-foot-long chesterfield leather sofa are abuzz with patrons from morning to late night. The elegant decor is accented with burgundy tufted chairs and regionally sourced flowers, adding glamour to an already splendid setting. Lovely rock lobster tempura, a caviar selection and local smoked salmon from Château-d'Éx are only a few examples of the food offerings.

Since we are in Switzerland and ingredients like cheese and chocolate are staples, The Bar offers a selection of hot chocolate indulgences such as the Bellevue Infusion, blending milk chocolate with alpine herb; the Snow White, featuring white milk chocolate and almond crisps; The Milky Way, milk chocolate with floating marshmallows; and the Al
